CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT

The golfing Bauer sisters, Alice and Marlene, whose father, Dave Bauer, a Los Angeles golf professional, has tutored them to the place where they rank high in national golfing circles, led the field Saturday at Pebble Beach in the Marion Hollins Memorial Scotch Foursomes Event, with an 82.

Marlene, now 15, won the Palm Springs and Los Angeles City Women's Golf Championships at the age of 13. In February of this year she won the Indo Invitational and last month took both the Los Angeles City Women's title and the Women's Open Match Play Championship held at Fremont.

Alice, who is 21, won the Southern California Women's Open in Los Angeles recently and was runner up to her sister in the Women's Los Angeles City tournament.

The girls expect to play in the Pacific Northwest Championship in Seattle in July and will go on to the U.S.A. Amateur Championship in Pennsylvania later. Marlene will take in both the Western Junior and the National Junior championships.

CHEF'S SPECIAL

KITCHEN CAPERS
by
NICK LOVELACE

This column started as a dare, more or less, with the idea that an amateur male chef might have something to say to people who cook for pleasure and who do not make a chore of an everyday necessity. I hope that some of the recipes set down have made eating and the preparing of food a bit more fun. If they have, then it is worth pounding this out. Letters and personal contacts made would indicate that some people are reading what's written, but the longer this goes on the more insatiable becomes the desire to hear from all of you. I particularly want criticism. Do you want just plain recipes? Or do you enjoy the comments that go with this column? Have you tried some of the ideas and found them wanting? Come on...The next time you go to the Post Office, stop and buy a penny post card or two and scribble out something. Send it along to Box A-O, Carmel.

Talks of Barbecues fill the air both in town and in the country. Just because you do not have a barbecue pit or portable stove you can still be a success as a BBO host or hostess. Try this favorite recipe of mine for BBQ Spareribs. These are prepared in your oven.

Barbecued Spareribs to serve four. Have butcher crack the bones of 3 to 4 lbs. of spareribs. Then cut apart into serving pieces. Soak for several hours in this sauce:

- 1 bottle of any good barbecue sauce.
- 1 can pineapple juice.
- 1 large onion, finely chopped.
- 1 tbsp. wine vinegar
- 1 tbsp. brown sugar.
- 1 tbsp. paprika.
- salt and pepper.

Lift spareribs out of sauce, drain slightly and bake in 450 oven until well browned. Then pour the sauce over the spareribs, reduce heat to 350 and bake approximately 45 minutes, basting occasionally. Sprinkle with a tsp. of celery seed, and bake ten or fifteen minutes longer.

LEAVE FOR O.C.S.

A total of 14 enlisted men from Fort Ord, part of a Sixth Army Area quota of 20, will leave the post for Officer's Candidate School at Fort Riley, Kansas, in the near future.

The group, one of the largest OCS shipments since the war, is scheduled to start schooling on June 21, according to officials at the Officer Candidate School at Fort Ord.

A DECISION IS RENDERED AT LAST !

The Monterey County Planning Commission knew it was letting itself in for a raking over the coals when it made its decision concerning the commercial zoning at the junction of Route 1 and the Carmel Valley Road. Certain segments of the community, and one newspaper, are at the bellows now trying to make the question hotter.

Yet, a coalition is indicated. What other decision could the commission make?

As Mr. Colegrove, who did most of the speaking for the commission, explained to members of Carmel Unincorporated during the last, lengthy Salinas meeting, the commission does not feel it has a "moral right" to revoke commercial zoning of property which has been so zoned over a period of years.

The commission members, who by the way are not paid for their service to the county, were certainly not stampeded into making their decision. The controversy has been before them for the past year.

The planning commission, during its April 25 meeting, suggested to members of Carmel Unincorporated that they come up with a workable compromise on the issue. While only 40 members of the group attended their middle-of-May meeting in Carmel, they wisely decided on a compromise which was a good one, and which was fully reported in the May 19 issue of the SPECTATOR. But it was dropped after protests from other members of the association - members seemingly not interested enough to show up at the meeting.

These members wished not only to stop further commercia-lization at the entrance of the valley, but do away with what is already there.

As Edward Cochrane, of Carmel Unincorporated warned, it is better to compromise than "lose everything." It seems that he was right. The planning commission's decision will come up for review at the July 1 meeting of the County Board of Supervisors, who as a rule support the planners.

One does not have to listen carefully to hear people speculating as to why the property owners at the contested intersection did not show up at the meeting to defend their property.
Some have even gone so far as to say the "fix" was on.

But let's analyse it. Why should the property owners show up? Except for a strip of land along the Hatton Estates, for which a lessee representative appeared, the property under discussion has been zoned commercially for years. Is it necessary for a person to fight for something he already has? Besides, the men who own the C-1 property also own most of the land near the spot. Most of the protestants are not even within seeing distance of the intersection.

There can be no question as to the need some time in the future for the erection of stores to serve the rapidly growing real estate developments near the site. The purchasers of the property there will expect it.

The commission's proposal regarding "strict architectural control" will prevent an eyesore from coming into being.

We who live on the peninsula consider ourselves lucky to be here. But it is doubtful if anyone is ever going to be lucky enough to keep other people from coming here too.

Residents of the city of Carmel have a stake in this valley zoning question also. As population grows, Carmel's own business section becomes increasingly crowded. Carmel residents might find it to their advantage to have another shopping center (under strict architectural control) to take up the overflow of new residents.

CARMEL....BY THE NUMBER
FIRE ALARM SIGNALS

The recent Golden Bough Playhouse destruction has made many Carmel residents much more aware of the danger of fire.
But when sirens wail, how many of us know the signals telling where the fire is located?

Appended below is a list of signals for each district in which a fire occurs. If a call comes in from the business section, the number is 45 - that is, four blasts on the siren, a pause, then five. This will normally be repeated four times.
Emergency telephone calls for fires within the city should be made to 100; outside the city, 1166, and for police, 131.

Business Personalities

HELEN LIGHTNER DEAN

When Mrs. Helen Lightner Dean came to Carmel 12 years ago to take over The Cinderella Shop on Ocean Avenue, she had no idea it would turn into the thriving business it is today. It is the oldest women's apparel shop in Carmel, having been established in 1922 by Miss Janet Prentiss as a "women's exchange" store. Everything from food to household goods changed hands there, until it gradually evolved into a dress shop.

Mrs. Dean came here from Sacramento to live quietly with her husband, who was suffering from a heart ailment, and who died in 1942. When she purchased the Cinderella Shop, she made the transition from housewife to business woman. She says she was, and is, enthralled with Carmel's
"village atmosphere," and, although she feels that progress cannot really be stopped, Carmel is one of the few cities that has retained its original charm. Even now, after a short span of years during which population took its most decided jump, Mrs. Dean is convinced that this is one of the few communities in which business can be conducted casually.

"I consider myself lucky to own an interesting business," she said, "that is, one that is interesting from the standpoint that it keeps me very busy, but is also located in such a town as Carmel. I still get a thrill when I travel to New York twice a year on buying trips - I try to see every show in town - but it's always a pleasure to return here."

Carmel residents probably will recall that a photograph of Mrs. Dean standing at the door of her shop appeared in the May 15, 1948, issue of the Saturday Evening Post, which published an article on this city. The fact that her maiden name, Lightner, appears on the sign outside the door brought many letters from old college friends who read the article, and from whom Mrs. Dean had not heard in many years.

She received one letter from as far away as Ireland, and has carried on a friendship correspondence since then with the maiden lady who wrote it.

The lady, who incidentally lives in County Cork, said she felt compelled to write the letter after seeing Mrs. Dean's face in the magazine's picture.

The most pointed observation one might make in regard to Dean's status in Carmel - and as to her personality - is that this sketch is perhaps not necessary.
A walk down Ocean Avenue with her is a hazard to a running conversation, since every two or three steps will find you interrupted by somebody who wishes to speak with her - somebody who knows her and likes her.

WESTERN GOP
MEETS IN L.A.

A conference of Republican leaders from the Western states, Hawaii and Alaska, was held last week at the Biltmore Hotel in Los Angeles. Among the speakers were Lt. Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, Senator Harry Cain, of Washington, D.C.; Hugh D. Scott, national committeeman; Marjorie H.E. Bendict, California's national committeewoman, and Mrs. Ivy Priest, secretary of the Western States Conference.

Local Republican women's clubs were represented by Mrs.
C.C. Faulkner, president of Northern Division, California Council of Republican Women, recently elected vice chairman of the Republican State Central Committee.
Mrs. Milton Marquard has been elected public relations chairman for the Northern Division, Women's Council.

Green Bound Over

Jack D. Green, of Carmel, out on bail after being arrested on a formal charge of grand theft, has been bound over to superior court in Salinas following a hearing last week in Monterey justice court.

With the statement, "Some of the leading citizens around here don't pay their bills," Mr. Green's attorney sought to counter charges by Deputy District Attorney John Shephard that his client had not paid his bills. Mr. Green has been charged with accepting fees from persons as "retainers" for arranging construction loans that never came through, and then not repaying the fees.

Mr. Green's business, located in Carmel, was known as Peninsula Business Engineering.

BROKERS CONFER

Eighty real estate brokers and their salesmen attended the first Realtor's Educational and Sales
Conference last week in Salinas.
Carmel realtors reported it was one of the most successful conferences they had ever attended.

Gladys Johnston, local realtor, represented the Carmel Board of Realtors on the educational committee.

Of particular interest to local real estate people were talks by Raymond D. Smith, of San Francisco; Willard Johnson, C.J. Duncan, of Oakland; Frank MacBride, Jr., of Sacramento; Sol Gilberg, of Oakland; Gaylord K. Nye, of San Francisco; H.N. Cipolla, of San Jose, and F. Burt Hulting, of San Francisco.

Mr. Smith listed the following
"Do's and Don't's" for real estate brokers: "Do's" - Be honest and thorough. Know your offering thoroughly. Try to know your prospects. Make clients out of your prospects. Get your understandings in writing. Make your expenses first. Charge a full commission.
Establish a backlog for your business. Be active in the life of the community, and keep learning.

Some of the "don't's" were:
Don't sit waiting for prospects.
Don't use the telephone in selling.
Don't under-offer your client's property. Don't try to do your prospect's thinking. Don't vacillate-ask your prospect to sign.
Don't talk too much. Don't kid yourself-face facts. Don't procrastinate. Don't be afraid to try, and Don't get "phony" rich.

Your CONGRESSMAN REPORTS

Action we appear about to take on the matter of housing legislation convinces me again of the inconsistency of the government in Washington. Here is what I mean: Congress passed unanimously - and President Truman signed - my legislation giving the secretary of agriculture another year to dispose of farm labor camps.

Purpose of that act is to have local governments and farmers' non-profit organizations acquire camps built during the war. These camps provide proper housing for field, orchard and vineyard workers. The bill recognizes the principle that our local people know their local problems much better than Washington officials. After recognizing that fact, now we are being importuned to pass a general housing bill calling for a highly ambitious program of public housing...all controlled from Washington.

Last November the people of California voted to oppose such a housing plan. We are asked to disregard that. Why would they want a federal program run by remote control - if they already have rejected a state plan?

I am thinking in terms of the majority of people of Monterey, San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara and Ventura counties when I say they want no part of any plan to pay taxes to subsidize public housing in Chicago, New York and other large industrial cities.

Many of us in Washington believe that while the majority party in Congress talks a lot about housing, there are many who have serious doubts about the pending legislation. For one thing, they think it is going to socialize the building industry of the United States. It's asking too much, too.

Scout Jamboree At Valley Forge

Most important news released by the Boy Scouts of America since 1937 is the announcement from the national office of that organization that Valley Forge, Pa., has been selected for its second National Scout Jamboree in 1950, according to Don Gilchrist, president of the local Monterey Bay area Boy Scout council.

Over 30,000 Boy Scouts from every state and all US territories will camp together from June 30 to July 6, 1950, on the site notable as the winter encampment of General George Washington and his Continental Army from Dec. 19, 1777, to June 19, 1778.

Valley Forge is owned, maintained and preserved by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. An invitation to hold the jamboree there was received from Governor James H. Duff by the Boy Scouts of America and accepted by its National Executive Board, Dr. Arthur A. Schurck, chief scout executive, announced. The jamboree will be the climax of the Boy Scouts' two year crusade to "Strengthen the Army of Liberty."

The camp probably will occupy 600 of the 2,033 acres in Valley Forge Park. This would provide 32 sectional camps for a maximum of 40,320 scouts and adult leaders. Valley Forge is 20 miles northwest of Philadelphia and seven miles west of Norristown.

The first National Scout Jamboree was held in a 480-acre tent city on both sides of the Potomac River at Washington, D.C., from June 30 to July 9, 1937, at the invitation of President Franklin D. Roosevelt. It brought together 27,222 scouts and leaders whose fees paid for the expenses of the entire affair.

FLOCKING GULLS, Oil by E. CASHION MAC LENNAN.
The birds in warm white with dark wing tips; the rocks in tones of brown and gold against a cerulean sea.

Through The North Window

E. CASHION MAC LENNAN

The water color exhibit, hanging throughout the month of June in the Beardsley Gallery, which is usually reviewed as a "trailer" or of the "second table" in importance to the oils, will receive first attention this week. The oils will be considered later.

Outstanding, in my opinion are the following "fine papers": "Of the Crown Earth," simply stated, restrained, yet rich in color, by Free Dean; "Embarcadero" by Ruth D. Marsh, who demonstrates a very individual treatment - opaque figures on a clear toned background, the group of figures thoughtfully disposed; Joe Moody's "Asilomar Dunes," delicately tinted and with sweeping movement in dunes and trees; "Net Menders" by Sam Colburn, with his usual economy of means, and with fine composition; "Waterfront" by W. Harvey Williamson; "Monterey Cypress" by Paul Whitman with its beautiful pattern of branching; "Trapper" by Rollin Pickford Jr., fine in the immensity of snowy expanse and towering trees; and Kay Rogers' small but texturally interesting landscape.

Other interesting water colors or pastels in this gallery are: "Gums and Cypress" by Edmund Dempsey; "Arch of Titus" by Wm. Watts; "Wharf" by Patricia Cunningham; "Opus No. 12, Rome" by Doris Ormsby; "Broken Couch" by Margaret W. Willard; "Tide-water" by Dora Hagemeyer; "San Benito Ranch" by Burton S. Bounded; "Fishing Fleet, Moro Bay" by Kathryn Aurner; "San Juan Bautista" by Marjorie Doolittle; "N. Orner Atkinson," "Ranunculus"; "Tones of Evening" by Frank Meyers; "Salisbury" by Florence Lockwood; "Two Dogs" by Sam Wainwright; "Corsage" portrait of an unusual orchid, by Charlotte Betts; "Carmel Trees" by Harold Helveston; and "Church, Rancho de Taos," by E. Cashion Mac Lennan. In the Entrance Gallery are three fine mezzotints by Reynold H. Weidenaar, A.N.A., who has received many honors in his relatively brief career. Portraits, as usual, are shown in the Middle Gallery.

The two-man exhibition of Leslie and Claude Buck continues a few days longer at the Carmel Art Galleries. Mr. Buck has carried representation in art almost to perfection, and from now on he aims to express mood, based on representation. In a recent newspaper article he stated his belief that the painter of the abstract design attempting to express only mood often fails to communicate to his audience his own reaction because he distorts nature, and therefore is in conflict with all who love nature. Mr. Buck has an especial interest in painting the sheen on brass, copper, and other metals, and has a sure knowledge of color balance and harmony.

Leslie Buck's "Sea Shell and Ivy," amongst a group of her delightful still lifes, is a gem in delicacy of tone and color. Some of the frames of the paintings by both artists are noteworthy, having been designed and decorated for the particular canvas enclosed. The careful attention to detail in the work of both Claude and Leslie Buck is in striking contrast to much of the careless slap-dash painting of recent days, and this quality has a general appeal, but particularly to those connoisseurs of conservative work.

Discerning Discs

by Henry Dunakin

Parlophone is one of those companies that is not too prolific with its output but when there is an announcement you can rest assured that it is going to be worth your while. This month's release is the premiere recording of the "Violin Concerto No. 1" by K. Zymanowski, the most outstanding composer of 20th century Poland. Here is music of fantastic and frightening dimension, strange instrumentations, and almost inconceivable shadings. It hardly seems possible that any amount of wax and shellac could ever capture the sounds needed for a degree of satisfaction; and yet, Parlophone has done it!

The Concerto itself is written in one movement, with its many sections being imperceptibly intertwined. Strong melodic line is followed by the violin but color beyond belief surges from the massive orchestra. Critics the world over have long acclaimed this composition as the "orchestral miracle of the century" - and no wonder! When a man has fused melodic beauty with complete chaos, atonality with polytonality, employed every possible instrument, invented a polyglot of rhythms and still maintained a solidly integrated unit - what else can you say??

Eugenia Umenska, as soloist, proves to be a virtuoso par excellence, while Gregor Fitelberg leads the Philharmonia Orchestra with perfect control. Actually this recording should negate any similar undertaking by other companies for years to come. It is so nearly perfect that this writer fails to see how anything in the way of improvement could be accomplished.

Capitol gives us another release from its Telefunken catalog. This time we have four tone poems composed by Max Reger and set to paintings by Boecklin. It is about time that this composer was made available to the music lover. He is seldom performed in concert and is most scantily represented on discs. Unfortunately this present grouping is not typical of his efforts, as program music was not his forte. To be sure, he excels in chamber music of a most difficult and complicated style. However, the "Boecklin Suite" is beautifully read by Joseph Keilberth, conductor, and the German Philharmonic Orchestra of Prague. The engineering is good and the surfaces offer no competition to listening. The tone pictures themselves are pleasant enough - romantic and unobtrusive.

Have you wandered into your favorite record shop this past week? It might be quite profitable, as innumerable albums, are on sale at discounts ranging from 20% to 40%. This means that now is the time to buy that album or two hitherto too large for your budget - be it opera, symphony, or what have you??

PLAN 1949 OPERAS

A 1949 opera season at Forest Theater was the topic of discussion during a meeting last night at Sunset School. Arturo Casiglia, director of the Pacific Opera Company, attended the meeting to outline general plans for the coming season.

A recent visitor in Carmel, Casiglia conferred with Hal Boyd, manager of last season's operas. Tentatively planned for presentation are Carmen, La Traviata, and La Boheme. Casiglia favors ex-

Prize-winning Elements Sculpture by Helen Snyder of the Carmel Art Association.

CARMEL ART In New York Show

First prize winner at the International Flower Show in New York City, the flower arrangement by Mrs. Kenton Walker of Wilmington Delaware is dramatized by the wood sculpture of Helen Snyder, member of the Carmel Art Association. Mrs. Snyder and Mrs. Emily Nelson, both wood sculptors are the creators of Elements-Sculptures on permanent exhibit at the Carmel Galleries. It was at the Galleries that Mrs. Walker purchased her prize winning piece which Mrs. Snyder created from "Balm of Gilead" (black cottonwood) which is found only on the Pacific Coast.

Mrs. Snyder, whose studio is in Berkeley, spent last week-end in Carmel, the guest of her father, Jay M. Butler of Bayview and Santa Lucia streets.

In speaking of her work Mrs. Snyder said, "Mrs. Nelson and I use California woods exclusively, and spend endless weeks in searching for natural wood forms. We feel that the beauty and the idea are in the natural formation. We prefer above all the Juniper of the High Sierras. In many cases these magnificent trees exceed 6000 years in age; the pieces that we find for our sculptures may have been separated from the parent tree for several centuries. We search high above the timber line for the grotesquely beautiful Manzanita fragments which through the ages have withstood the raging winds and storms. Bowing and twisting in their battle for existence, the Manzanitas are indeed the fruits of the elements."

panding the operas this year, particularly in orchestration and chorus. The Carmel City Council has allotted the dates of August 19, 20 and 21, for the proposed opera season.

JOHN WOOD, OF THE U. S. POST OFFICE

He knows more people by their Christian names than anyone in Carmel...if you are a resident of Carmel the chances are you've seen him at least once a day, barring Sundays, all your Carmel life...and, he is the first US Post Office employee in Carmel ever to be pensioned. Who? John Wood, of course!

For thirty-four and one-half years Mr. Wood has been shuffling, sorting, handing out, and taking in the most precious of all living documents, the letters and cards and parcels, entrusted to the government mails. And on June 8th Carmel's John Wood, full of years, wisdom, and neighborly news, was retired from active service. His 34½ years of service having been divided almost equally between the main Post Office of Brooklyn, New York, and Carmel.

Brooklyn Boy from Glasgow.

"I was born in Glasgow," Mr. Wood told me, "but I was a wee bit of about three years when my mother and father brought me and my two brothers, Alec and Rob, across the ocean to Brooklyn. And I'm a Brooklyn boy alright. I think it's a grand city, with its beautiful churches and wonderful bridge. I've walked across that bridge, hundreds of times, I guess, and one time a school chum and I made it in eleven minutes!"

The Dodgers Dodged him.

"After I graduated from Brooklyn High I had quite a variety of jobs. I was a shipping clerk, I worked in a law office and, for one year I was a street car conductor. In Brooklyn a street car conductor really rated because those carlines were world famous, the way they crisscrossed...You know how Brooklyn Dodgers got their name? It was because every boy in Brooklyn who ever twirled a base-ball dodged the street cars on his way to the Parade Grounds. That ball park was, and still is, the most beautiful I've ever seen. And of course, the Brooklyn Dodgers are aces high with me!"

"Well, along about 1914 I gave up my streetcar job, took the examination and became a US Post Office employee."

Marriage and Travel.

In 1920 I married a bonnie Scotch lass named Agnes Wood, (she didn't even have the fun of changing her name when she became Mrs. John Wood, but we had a cozy home in Brooklyn and were very happy). In 1922 we went back to the old country and for three months we traveled the land of the glens and braes visiting all our cousins and aunts...We had such a grand time that in 1927 we went again, that trip was a success too.

"It was in 1931 that Mrs. Wood crossed the Atlantic without me, and when she came back, I just said, 'Agnes, don't bother to unpack your luggage, we're off to Carmel, its in California.'"

Carmel.

Mr. and Mrs. Wood arrived in Carmel November 16, 1931.

"The Post Office was then located on Dolores street between Ocean avenue and 7th street, on the present site of Camp's...Bill Overstreet was the post master and we had 7 or 8 employees. After Mr. Overstreet, when the Democrats came in, Mrs. Irene Campbell Cator became Post Mistress, and a very fine job she did too. In 1935 we moved to Ocean Avenue at the corner of Mission and in 1940 we settled in our present location. Ernest Bixler became Post Master also in 1940. During the war period whilst he was in the Sea-bees, Fred Becholdt was acting Post Master."

The Daily Line-up.

"What about the daily line-up?" I asked Mr. Wood, "Was it as colorful in the 'good old days' as now?" Well, to tell the truth, he replied, "there weren't so many ladies wearing trowers, and not so many with bare toes, roads too dusty, (remember we didn't have such fancy paving then). But artists we've always had, they've always been what you might call amazing in their costumes...and they certainly love to write and receive mail!"

"Today, at the height of the season, between 700 and 800 persons visit the General Delivery window...There are 2,104 private boxes and there are 500 names on the waiting list and there are 18 employees."

"Strange requests? I've had plenty and they couldn't happen anywhere else! You've no idea the number of people who mail letters and right away they're sorry. I've fished dozens and dozens out that have just passed through the slot. Goodness knows how many a quarrel or family feud has been fished out

Celebrities who wined, dined and conversed far into the wee small hours last Saturday night at Nepenthe included: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Maxwell of San Francisco's Maxwell Art Gallery; Mat Jenkins of Carmel with Mr. and Walter Batterman (the birthday toasts were for both Walter and Mat). Chuck Fuller of Carmel's Cabbages and Kings; Artist Armin Hansen and Mrs. Hansen hosting a gay dinner party; Wilma Campbell, entertaining and looking ultra smart as usual. Dr. and Mrs. Harry Linsig; Mr. and Mrs. Warner Lee of Monterey; Ralph Newell of Big Sur; Radioman John Nesbitt and Mrs. Nesbitt...and Author Henry Miller with his charming wife. Painter Jean Varda and Sculptor Benny Buffano shared a table and views, pastoral and abstract.

A host of friends enjoyed the house-warming of Mr. and Mrs. Russell J. Townsend last Sunday afternoon when the Townsends entertained for the first time in their new redwood house.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray J. Diekemper, Jr., who make their home in the Del Monte Forest, are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Evaline, to Bert Jackson Lee of Columbia, South Carolina.

The marriage of the pair took place on October 30 in Reno. They preferred to make no announcement until the present time.

The bride is a graduate of Beverly Hills High School and attended the University of Wyoming.

Her husband, son of Mrs. B. Lee of Columbia, is a graduate of the US Maritime Academy of New York. He is an officer in the Maritime Service and is expected here from Manila shortly.

The couple will make their home in Carmel.

of the mail. I always felt that a big part of my job was in being friendly and I've always done my best to help out a Carmelite who had written too hastily, or too much.

"Then another of our daily problems especially during the tourist season, has been to convince people that the Post Office is really real. You've no idea how many grown men and women have to be convinced that the mail goes out three times each day, not once a week. I can't imagine what they think we are doing all day! There are eighteen people on the staff now, and I tell you no one wastes a minute. Don't know how I'll get used to having nothing to do!" John Wood gave a little sigh, but then his eyes twinkled - "Mrs. Wood and I are off on a trip to Brooklyn on June 23," he concluded, "but we'll be back. Brooklyn's fine, but Carmel is home."

And, I feel sure that all Carmel joins the Spectator in wishing John Wood a happy and safe journey, and a promise that upon his return the Welcome Home mat will be out!

S AND R GREEN STAMPS

Mrs. Howard Vincent O'Brien, of Chicago, her daughter, Mrs. Jean O'Brien Lowman, and three children of Carmel, left this week for a lengthy sojourn in Lima, Peru.

Mrs. Marcia DeVoe, popular kindergarten teacher at Sunset School, and talented amateur photographer, will show her colored slides of the Monterey Centennial, the Portola Trek, and of Peninsula flowers at the regular meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Garden Club tomorrow (Friday) night at 8 p.m. in the Women's Civic Club, Grand street near Grove (behind the Museum), Pacific Grove.

Garden Club membership is open to any interested gardener on the Monterey Peninsula, and no invitation to join is necessary. Everyone is welcome to the meetings, which are held regularly the third Friday of every month, a small charge being made for non-members.

Carmel members desiring transportation to the meeting are asked to telephone Mrs. Ted Durein at 426-R.

Mrs. Nora McCaffrey Law, guest speaker at last Monday evening's meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Stamp Club kept her audience enthralled with a graphic account of the New Philatelists' Museum in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. The Museum, sponsored by Temple University is renowned for its extensive collection of stamps embracing the world output.

Leland S. Stallings conducted a contest on US Stamps issued in 1948. Those winning the highest votes were: the Rough Rider stamp, 1st place; Lincoln Stamp, 2nd place; the Chaplain's stamp, 3rd place. Voted the saddest stamp of the year was the Poultry stamp.

Colonel John Wright presided and announced that the next meeting will be held June 20th.

Ensign Harvey Ronald Gardner and his bride, the former Gloria Lee Randolph, who are honeymooning here.

Return To Carmel On Honeymoon

Ensign Harvey Ronald Gardner, USN, and his bride, the former Gloria Lee Randolph, of Coronado, on their wedding trip, are the houseguests of Mr. Gardner's mother Mrs. F.E. Dowgiallo, of Carmel.

Harvey, a member of Carmel High's first graduating class (1941) is being rushed this week introducing his beautiful bride to a host of Carmel friends, and saying hello to school friends all over the Peninsula. Following his high school graduation Harvey went to Alaska as a surveyor for one year. Upon his return, he attended Salinas Junior College and Stanford University, where he was a member of Phi Delta Kappa Fraternity. In 1945, he joined the US Navy, and it was on Guam that he met his bride.

Gloria is the daughter of Captain Ralph B. Randolph, USN, and Mrs. Randolph. She attended the Point Loma School and graduated from George Washington High School in Guam. Returning to the States, her education was completed at UCLA where she was a member of Gamma Phi Beta.

The young couple were married on Sunday, June 5, at 4 p.m. in the Naval Chapel of North Island, San Diego, with Comdr. John W. Weiss, ChC, USN, officiating. The bride's gown was of the traditional white satin with yoke and sleeves of chantilly lace, and her full skirt fell into a long sweeping train. The finger tip veil was held by a cap of appliqued flowers and she carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

Carmelites in the bridal party included: Miss Beverley Dowgiallo (sister of the groom), who as a bridesmaid was attired in dusty-rose slipper satin and carried a bouquet of lavender larkspur and tallman sweetpeas. Mrs. Marian Dunn, also a sister of the groom, wore a dinner suit of heaven-blue satin dramatized by black accessories.

Toland Doud, of Carmel, served as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Peter Thatcher (Andre Del Monte) were there from Alhambra.

The reception, held in the Officers' Mess on the island was attended by more than 100 guests, with Mrs. Randolph (Mother of the bride) receiving in a gown of champagne chiffon and lace. The four-tiered cake was cut by the joined hands of the newly-wed pair using Captain Randolph's sabre.

For travelling the bride selected a suit of blue and green glen-plaid cashmere with sun beige accessories. The first week of the honeymoon was spent on Catalina Island.

Ensign Gardner's gift to his bride was a pearl necklace.

Following their Carmel visit the newly-weds will reside in Alameda where Mr. Gardner is attached to the Naval Air Station.

Jesus' Death and Burial.

Lesson for June 12: Luke 23:33-38; Mark 15:34; Luke 23:46-47; Matthew 27:57-60.

Memory Selection: John 10:11.

After the travesty of a trial was ended, Jesus was led to the crucifixion. When a place called Golgotha had been reached and Jesus had been lifted up between two thieves, the chief priests and the soldiers taunted the Sufferer and told him to save himself, and one of the soldiers offered him vinegar to drink, mingled with gall. And above the head of Jesus were these words: THIS IS THE KING OF JEWS.

At the ninth hour (three in the afternoon) Jesus cried: "My God, my God, why hast Thou forsaken me?" Let us regard these words as evidence that Jesus, who had come willingly to the cross for sinful men, whose sins had separated them from God, had to feel utterly alone in his sacrifice.

In the last moments, Jesus cried out, in a loud voice: "Father, into Thy hands I commend my spirit." These were the last words from the cross. They are sufficient answer to some who have supposed that his cry of being forsaken indicated wavering faith by Jesus.

The Sanhedrin, in declaring Jesus worthy of death, was not unanimous in its action. Joseph of Arimathea did not agree. And, after the crucifixion, he begged the body of Jesus from Pilate, and he and Nicodemus lovingly placed it in Joseph's new tomb. Matthew writes that Joseph "also himself was Jesus' disciple." It is true that he had been a disciple secretly, but at the last he acted boldly and at great risk to himself. The same was true of Nicodemus.

on Sunday the Club will oppose the Olympic Club of San Francisco.

Cricket Club Wins Close One

The Del Monte Cricket Club, in their most exciting game of the season, defeated the Golden Gate Club of Berkeley by 1 run (104 to 103) at Carmel High School Sunday. The game was witnessed by a number of people, who had come to the high school for the formal opening of the school swimming pool, which took place at the same time. Del Monte went in first and their highest scorers were Tony Kent, 38, and Eric Petrie, 29. The most successful bowler was Vic Mantilla, who took five wickets for 52 runs and almost accomplished the "hat-trick," which consists in taking three wickets with three successive balls; Mantilla took two wickets with two balls and three wickets.

For the losers, H. Foster went in first and was undefeated at the end of the inning with 32 runs to his credit; R. Newbold made 36. With one run only needed to tie the score, the last two Golden Gate batsmen (Foster and DeWitt) attempted a run, but the wicket was struck by an accurate return from Jim Southwell and DeWitt was run out, thus ending the innings and the match.

The usual practice will be held at Carmel on Thursday evening and

He was rummaging around where he should not have been - in a garbage can. The tin can in his mouth was removed by Ralph S. Happy Birthday

Colored movies and slides of "Life in Japan" were the feature of the birthday party of Meg Seccombe, daughter of Rev. Alfred B. Seccombe and Mrs. Seccombe. Meg celebrated her seventh birthday on Saturday afternoon. More than 20 little girl friends attended and Meg's uncle, William Tyson Seccombe, recently returned from Japan gave a running commentary as he showed the films. Mrs. Wynne Lander, Mrs. Violet Weisiger and Miss Neve Gribble assisted Mrs. Seccombe.

A ride in the "Blue Skies" Surrey won high approval of the young guests at Wendy Burnham's birthday party last Monday afternoon. Wendy was eight years old and her mother, Mrs. A. Carol McKenney entertained the Misses: Christine and Marjory Aho, Mary Helen Elstob, Carla Budd, Connie Chedester, Gail Ann Da Rosa, Lucinda Lloyd, Nancy Lofton, and Vivienne Davis. Japanese lanterns and parasols made distinctive and colorful decorations.

Garlands of vari-colored crepe paper festooned the drawing room of Mrs. W.W. Sellard's charming home on Monte Verde street last Saturday afternoon when Mrs. Vivian Davis entertained thirty boys and girls in honor of her daughter Vivian's 8th birthday. At the end of each garland was a gift for each of the young guests. The party table set in the patio was in blue and pink with the flower decorated birthday cake in the same delicate colors. The boys and girls were Vivian's class mates of Sunset School's second grade.

Mrs. F.L. Wallace of Hatton Fields entertained the same group of second graders in honor of her son Frank's 8th birthday, on Sunday afternoon. Frank's party was held on the beach with hot dogs, much sand between the toes and an occasional foray into the surf as the high spots.

Winding Through CARMEL VALLEY

The Valley Road & Why

Salinas - About 50 Carmel Valley residents crossed the mountain Monday morning to attend the board of supervisors meeting here to find out why the valley road has not been fixed.

C.S. Harper, president of the Carmel Valley Business and Professional Association, who said he acted as spokesman for a fact-finding committee, asked two questions of County Surveyor Howard Cozzens:

(1) Why had he said bids for construction of the valley road would be called in June, then changed his mind and said it would not be until fall?

(2) When could residents of the valley expect work on the valley road to be started?

Andy Jacobsen, chairman of the board of supervisors, asked Mr. Cozzens to make a report, which he did. He explained that the county allocated $816,000 for road improvement and there were five roads to be finished:

(1) Del Monte Avenue, (2) Salinas Overpass, (3) San Juan-Watsonville Road, (4) Arroyo Seca Road and (5) Carmel Valley road. Two of these projects have been completed and the most important one involved dealings with the army and navy, necessitating unexpected delays. Bids for the Del Monte Avenue work should go out very soon, Mr. Cozzens said, and not until then can bids on the Carmel Valley Road be called.

He said that the budget of the valley road was $115,000 plus about $30,000 saved on the other projects, which of course depends on the cost involved in work on the Del Monte project. Mr. Cozzens referred to the engineering difficulties of the valley road realignment that makes a complete and thorough survey necessary. It was also mentioned that the board had received several letters from Carmel Valley residents who objected to modernization of the road.

At the close of the session Mr. Cozzens said the valley road modernization would take about 250 working days and should be completed by July, 1950, although "this is not a promise," he added.

Among valley people who attended the meeting were Mr. Harper, Herb Brownell, Irene Baldwin, the Frank Andrews, Dr. R.D. Jolderama and wife, Louise Moore, Lucille Chambers, Bill Wood, Mrs. Fred Horne, Mott Hitchcock and Mrs. M.C. Ruehl.

TEEN-AGER DOINGS

All teen-agers in the valley are invited to Frank De Amaral's barn on Monday evenings to plan their activities for the week. Last week they enjoyed a winner roast and a swimming party, while tomorrow night folk dancing is scheduled at the Farm Center. It isn't necessary to have a date to have fun at these community guided projects. Plans for the summer include hayrides, barbecues, swimming parties, breakfasts, moonlight rides and folk dancing.

The Louis Moores, Malcolm Davissens and this writer enjoyed dinner Saturday night at the Carousel before going down the road to listen to the singing bartender at Los Laureles Lodge.

Mrs. Nelson Leoni was hostess last week to the Carmel Valley Women's Club. After dining from box lunches and holding a short business meeting, the group heard John Broughton read his allegorical drama, "The Playground." Ladies who would like to join the club should call Mrs. Frank Porter, 22-R-1.

Millie Tice (Two-gun Sal) held a bang-up party at her swimming pool recently for all members of the fiesta troupe.

Each week the writer plans to do a thumbnail profile of someone in the valley who occupies himself in an unusual manner. The victim this week is Boris Veren, a kind of Sherlock Holmes tracking down elusive books from all parts of the world for craftsmen and hobbyists. Boris left the "fleshpots" of Chicago for the valley, where he, not only can ply his trade, but can build his own house by hand from adobe brick. His wife, Rose, helps lay the bricks when she isn't weaving at the new Craft Center.

Dean Marcucci, son of Dr. and Mrs. Marcucci, spent last weekend with his parents. He has returned to San Francisco where he is an engineer for the American Arabian Oil Co.

Twenty months old Pixie Popovic, accompanied by her mother Mrs. Frank Popovic and her aunt, Miss Honey Coot, all of San Francisco, arrived by Ranchita Edenrey, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Edward P. Marcucci, on Tuesday for an all summer visit.

The newest enterprise in the valley is a new movie theater run by Ed Haber and Ralph Stean. They start tomorrow night at 7:30 which is the regular starting time for evening performances. On Saturday there will be a 2 p.m. matinee performance for the kiddies.

For those with the interest and leisure, there are Wednesday evening classes in weaving, leathercraft and clay at the new Carmel Valley Craft Center in the White Oak Inn. This affords an opportunity to accumulate a few Christmas presents, and everyone is welcome.

The Sherman Jones, the Kenny Bakers and Irene Piazoni went for a moonlight ride on Mount Toro Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ramsey visited the valley Sunday. They are the new owners of the Highlands Inn.

A new playroom at Holman's Guest Ranch is being built.

Admiral Robinson, returning to Washington after three years on Guam as president of the Board of Trials, and his wife entertained his sister, Mrs. Phillip Wilson, and a group of friends at the Carousel recently.

Judge M.C. Sloes and his wife are celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary this week at Los Laureles Lodge. Twenty relatives and friends are converging from all parts of the country to pay their respects. Mrs. Sloes is also celebrating her 75th anniversary.

Mrs. Henry Potter Russell had as her house guests at her Carmel Valley Ranch, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fay, Jr., Dr. Cabot Brown, and Mr. Dave Hurlburt. Colonel and Mrs. Harold Mack entertained at dinner for the group and Mrs. Russell hosted a luncheon in their honor.

Folk dancing every Tuesday at the Carmel Valley Inn is for guests as well as valleyites. There is a small entrance fee to cover the cost of recordings. Right now a search is starting for a "caller," and anyone who can qualify will be received warmly.

Frank Lloyd, the producer-director, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Gene Raymond (Jeanette MacDonald) and other guests recently at the Carousel.

RED CROSS SUMMER PLANS DISCUSSED AT MEETING

Matthew C. Jenkins, recently elected chapter chairman of the Carmel Red Cross has announced a partial list of officers and service chairmen for the following year's work. Miss Helen Heavey will be vice chairman of the chapter; Miss Kathryn Bier, secretary; and George Knapp, treasurer. Appointments of 14 service chairmen to head the various activities of the chapter were discussed at a recent executive committee meeting.

The main business of the meeting was in connection with the difficulty of securing adequate numbers of blood donors from the Carmel area, especially for the next three summer months. The mobile unit visits the Monterey Peninsula on the fourth Monday of each month; appointments for donors are scheduled in advance through the local chapters. Not only is a constantly fresh supply of all types of whole blood maintained at the two local hospitals and the County Hospital, but blood derivatives, serum albumin and immune serum globulin (for modification and prevention of measles) is being supplied through the Department of Health. In discussing recruitment plans for the future, special commendation was given to the splendid work being done by Mrs. A.F. Blanks, Carmel, who has been speaking before many women's groups here and showing the movie, "A Life in Your Hands."

Members of the executive committee present were Mrs. Ernest Morehouse, Mrs. Francis Foraker, Miss Helen Heavey, Miss Kathryn Bier, Frank Putnam, Paul Whitman, George Knapp, and Mr. Jenkins. Also present were Mrs. Rush M. Wallace, coordinator of activities for Ft. Ord, and Miss Elizabeth Fogel, executive secretary of the chapter. Other members of the executive committee include Dr. Remsen Bird and Mrs. Kent Parrot.

The highest proof of virtue is to possess boundless power without abusing it.

THRILLER!

Wives of the Officers of the Navy's General Line School, will present "Ladies in Retirement," on the 23rd, 24th and 25th of June at the Naval Air Station Auditorium.

Last year, the Navy Drama Group was most successful with its fine characterization of "Cradle Snatchers," and this year's group boasts a fine array of talent that promises to make the new production an even better evenings entertainment.

A sure-fire hit, "Ladies in Retirement" was a Broadway favorite of about ten seasons back and was also done as a movie with Ida Lupino, Robert Montgomery and Elsa Lanchester taking the leading roles. It is a charming Victorian suspense-thriller, complete with murderess, a blackmailer and two "pathetic" if not insane sisters who find themselves occupying a house together in the marshes outside of London.

The cast, although under the supervision of Dan Tothoroh, is being directed this year by a member of the Drama Group, Mrs. Andrew H. Reid, of San Juan Road in Carmel Woods. Mrs. Reid is a veteran of many years of Little Theatre work in such well known favorites as "Arsenic and Old Lace," "Claudia" and "The Trial of Mary Dugan," and has come to Carmel with her husband, LCDR Reid, from Cuba, where they started the first Little Theatre in Guantanamo Bay. She worked with the Special Services Department of the Army during the war, directing it's "Unauthorized Abbreviations," and appearing in "Khaki Kapers," "Twin Beds" and "The Maxwell Field Revues" for GI entertainment.

Members of the cast, along with being seasoned troupers are all seasoned travelers as well. Most of them have lived all over the world and have trod the boards in such far away places as Shanghai and Honolulu. One, Mrs. George P. Yonkers, worked with Maurice Evans in Hawaii and starred in his production of "Out Of The Frying Pan" which toured the Islands for four months.

Other members of the cast include, Mrs. Francis C. Tormollan, Jr., as "Lucy"; Mrs. M.M. Gibson, III, as "Leonora Fiske"; Mrs. Remi C. O'Connor, as "Ellen"; Lt. Dewitt C. Redgrave, III, as "Albert Feather"; Mrs. Yonkers, as "Louisa"; Mrs. John E. McBride, as "Emily" and Mrs. John L. Butler Jr., of Casanova Street.

An excerpt from Sgt. Well balanced and well prepared meals are served in a tempting manner to satisfy the most fastidious customer. Lunches and dinners are equally appetizing.

It is unfortunate that so many poor eating houses are found over the country by the traveler. Such a refreshingly up-to-date cafe as this is a pleasure to find, and a greater pleasure to return to time and time again. It is hard to surpass anywhere in the locality. The proprietor has obviously in mind the well being and comfort of the hotel and traveling public. His success has reflected his desire to please everyone with good food pleasantly served.

There you will find excellent food, cooked by a discriminating chef, wholesomely and deliciously. Regardless of the size of your order you will be received in a grateful and appreciative manner, and will be served in a courteous way. The management is always pleased to serve you and is equipped to do so in the finest manner.

The popularity of this cafe can well be explained by the way in which customers are served in such delightful surroundings. Cleanliness and promptness are always stressed, whether you are a traveler passing through or a regular town visitor, pleasant and satisfactory treatment is always accorded you at this delightful eating place. Shoppers and business men are equally accorded fine service.

In this review we are pleased to compliment the proprietor of this cafe on the fine food, excellent character, and community service rendered by this leading establishment. R-11-1

In any business there is always a firm which turns out a product similar to, but still superior to, its nearest competitor.

Beyond a question, the fact that so many people in this area have had a stake in the operation of this firm has contributed to its fine record of achievement.

Their continued pre-eminence in this field, in a large measure, is attributable to confirmation with proved and basic principles of modern management. Elimination of waste, plus improved production techniques, plus the most modern tools are the controlling forces that have increased per man hour output and cut production cost.

So it is evident that the competent management of this firm has most advantageously grouped materials, methods and men to the end that a superior product is produced at a lower cost.

Since a major element in successful manufacturing is the satisfaction of the buyer, the design and sales plans of the concern include needs of the people of the area.

A review of the business progress in this area would be quite inadequate without substantial recognition of this firm's contribution to the general advancement of this community. M-11-1

Through the progressive efforts of this very valuable dance studio the younger generation is offered

We are stirred by that marvelous intonation of the human dance when it is trained to express the various emotions of our Henry Eisemann, located in Salinas at 315 No. Main, gives prompt service for roof leaks.

Like the old cabinet-maker, this firm takes real pride in every job undertaken, striving to improve over the quality of the previous job. For when they started operations they were convinced that the public demanded quality as well as price and quantity.

With this creed as their guiding policy they imbue every employee with "quality first, quantity last" and the success resulting from this worthy business philosophy has proved how right they were. The public demands quality in anything it buys and because these well-known business men have kept this fact always in mind this place is today recognized as a leader of the field in this section of the country.

No matter what has been your past experience they offer you a service that is truly different. When you visit this place you will see for yourself just what real quality and service can mean. It is not a trite and hackneyed phrase they use when selling you a job and forget when doing it. We wish all our readers could see the pains with which each operation is handled. It is the attention which they give to the little and oft overlooked details, as well as to the big points that gives their work the greatest possible utility and also a touch of distinction unequalled in this area.

No review of the business progress of this area would be complete without honorable mention to this firm. Very satisfactory service has been rendered to their patrons and every customer of this concern is a loyal supporter and booster for it.

Horton Lumber Co.

A Board or a Carload!

BUILDING MATERIALS OF ALL KINDS • PAINTS

Salinas 2-2737

Horton Lumber Co. is located in Salinas at 208 El Camino Real South — 2 miles south of city limits.

Since this firm always offers the best available in building supplies, it is readily recognized in the growth of this area.

Being well aware of their responsibility toward the development of this community, these people have made an iron-bound rule of providing only the best possible grades of essential lumber. This policy has won for them an enviable name in building circles throughout this territory. With these factors in mind, it is little wonder why this firm enjoys a fine name with the building industry in this area.

The management of this progressive establishment is always happy to sit down and help lay plans for material procurement for that new structure you may be planning. This factor alone is to a large extent the reason behind the popularity of this concern with the contractors of this area.

The products offered here are by no means confined to lumber items alone, for in addition to the fine stocks of lumber, they provide a complete line of accessory building items, such as wall board, plaster, nails and paints also available.

An examination of the success of any firm must always turn up these fundamental precepts: quality products, lowest possible cost and those little extras in the way of service to the clientele. These same precepts have, and will continue to be, followed by this progressive business enterprise to the fullest extent.

We feel that no review could be complete without prominent mention of this reliable forthright lumber company. Without the slightest hesitancy we can give our unqualified endorsement of them to our many readers. B-12-3

"There is the place to get a really scrumptious Spanish meal." This phrase is becoming increasingly common among the folks of this district who have had the good fortune to dine at this leading cafe.

Visitors from outlying points always make it a point to stop here because they always know that they can get an excellent meal prepared in a truly different manner. And as you would expect, people return again and again to a place which has built its good name on the standards of good food and hospitality.

The every day routine provision of ordinary food is not the policy of this cafe. The management specializes in select foods.

This combined with the consummate skill of master chefs, without exception provides the patron with an outstanding meal of deliciousness and savor.

The public has learned that it is more than just a place to get a good meal. The management here insists that every courtesy be extended the patron. Prompt, cheerful service by meticulous attendants has engendered many a favorable comment from their increasing list of customers.

It is indeed a pleasure to have a Spanish restaurant like this in the community. We are proud in this review to recommend that the stranger in town or the local citizen stop in for one of their excellent meals. R-11-13
